OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

The Committees at Work.—The Alleged Offensive Message.—Preparing for the Inauguration.—The President Calm and Resolute.

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Washington, Jan. 8.—The house committee on appropriations is busy occupied with hearings and meetings for the consideration of those bills in an effort to report them to the house at the earliest possible moment. The committee on naval affairs and the agricultural committee are also busy with the bills to provide funds for those two important departments. A sub-committee of the foreign affairs committee took up this week for consideration the estimates for appropriations required for foreign intercourse during the next fiscal year. It is believed that the committee will report on the military affairs and on rivers and harbors will each consider the bills required for the work with which they are identified.

The committee on rivers and harbors held a meeting on Tuesday to consider the advisability of bringing in the measure at this time. The committee on the other hand, is waiting for the report of the sub-committee on the estimates for appropriations required for foreign intercourse during the next fiscal year. It is believed that the committee will report on the military affairs and on rivers and harbors will each consider the bills required for the work with which they are identified.
